Why this unit?

Urban Planners, both as students and practitioners face the problem of explaining their role and nature of work. Due to sheer lack of awareness and knowledge gap among the general public they are mistaken to be architects or civil engineers.

Through this unit, we would like to bridge this gap and try to increase awareness about the profession. The link of articles shared in this unit are meant for both general public and those in the field. So, share as much as you can and keep on reading and exploring about this noble profession of Urban Planning!
